2018-2019 Diversity Director
San Diego State University
Graduation: May 2020

Hello everyone!

I am honored to serve as your 2018-2019 CNSA Diversity Director. I look forward to a year of change and growth as we continue to improve the education of nursing.

I am currently a student in my third year at San Diego State University. In the SDSU chapter, I am currently serving as the Community Health Director, reaching out to the community and creating events for our students to get involved in. Through this role, I have learned how to be a leader by taking initiative on ideas and being creative in the ways we reach out to people. In my time serving, I have worked with and seen the diverse populations in the community, which is ultimately what drew me to run for the role of Diversity Director.

My goals for this year are as follows:

- To create interest and engage diverse populations in the events of CNSA
- Provide education and heighten awareness of diversity that may involve patients or healthcare providers
- To diminish the stigmatic barriers present in the nursing profession

Myself along with my fellow co-director, Breakthrough to Nursing, are seeking students eager to create change in the field. We would be thrilled to have you on our team, working on various project throughout the year. Please contact me at diversity@cnsa.org if you are interested in joining the Breakthrough to Nursing/Diversity Committee, or if you have any comment, questions, or concerns. I look forward to working with you all!
