

An Luong

Breakthrough to Nursing Director

Pronouns: she/her/hers

Hi everyone. I'm looking forward to the year as your Breakthrough to Nursing Director for the 2019-2020 term. I'm currently attending Sonoma State University after having originally majored in Urban Studies & Planning with a minor in Environmental Studies at UC San Diego. After spending time working in private consulting and feeling a disconnect with what I had envisioned regarding the type of work that I wanted to do, I found my way towards nursing. As a nursing student, I have already directly felt the impact of my work on others and I find this truly rewarding. At the same time, I recognize that there are barriers to knowledge, opportunities, and resources to pursue careers in nursing. It is my goal as the Breakthrough to Nursing Director, along with the Diversity Director, to open opportunities for youth in underrepresented and diverse populations to find their path towards nursing as well.